ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Twelve months on from The Economist’s inaugural Feeding the World summit, a high-level audience will gather in Amsterdam to discuss how to accelerate progress in coordinating efforts to tackle the planet’s food security crisis. Industry leaders, government officials, donors, aid agencies and representatives of the research community will explore opportunities to collaborate in delivering improved nutrition and sustainable agricultural markets.

| 11.20  | Smart partnerships – How to build successful collaborationsTo create meaningful change, the private sector, governments and not-for-profit agencies will need to combine their skills and capacity. But cross-stakeholder collaboration is notoriously tricky. How to align the goals of the various partners? How to form partnerships all along the value chain? How to secure trust and commitment? We explore ways to blend collaboration, know-how, expertise, and resources to benefit local communities and global consumers.
  Siep Hiemstra, President, Africa and Middle East, HEINEKEN
  Kathy Spahn, President and Chief Executive, Helen Keller International Tim Cofer, President Europe, Mondelez International
  Jørgen Ole Haslestad, Chief Executive Officer, Yara |
| 12.20  | How to feed the world AND save the oceans
  Andrew Sharpless, Chief Executive Officer, Oceana |
| 12.40  | Lunch                                                                |
| 14.15  | Intensive workshopsExpert working groups in nutrition, finance/risk management and science/technology. Delegates will select between three extended, interactive sessions, working to create a series of recommendations which will then be presented to, and debated with the audience. |
Workshop A: Achieving nutrient-rich diets
With millions suffering from severe deficiencies in iron, Vitamin A, iodine and zinc, how can we encourage and facilitate populations to adopt nutrient-rich diets that are well-adapted to their local conditions and culture? How can smallholders be encouraged to grow crops that have high nutritional value? How can we develop the potential of food fortification? We debate the best ways to address the nutritional double burden of obesity and malnutrition.

Marc van Ameringen, Executive Director, GAIN
Janet Voute, Vice-president, Global Head of Public Affairs, Nestlé S.A.
Ellen Gustafson, Founder and Executive Director, The 30 Project

Workshop B: Smallholders and the financial system – Building resilience and managing risk
There is huge unmet demand, particularly in Africa, for schemes which protect smallholder incomes from weather shocks and which help poor farmers build savings and access credit. We discuss the potential for microfinance and microinsurance to strengthen food security, asking how schemes should be structured, promoted and governed to achieve maximum impact.

Wim Goris, Network Facilitator, Agri Pro-Focus
Alex Counts, President and Chief Executive Officer, Grameen Foundation
Berry Marttin, Member of the Executive Board, Rabobank

Workshop C: The enabling role of science and technology
Science and technology have a major role to play in meeting the global food security challenge. We debate the effectiveness and potential of a number of approaches to boosting yield and productivity through breeding and the use of biotechnology.

Dennis Rangi, Executive Director for International Development, CABI
Monty Jones, Executive Director, FARA
Amit Roy, President and Chief Executive Officer, IFDC
Erez Vigodman, President and Chief Executive Officer, Makhteshim Agan Industries
Jagresh K. Rana, Commercial Lead Row Crops East Europe, Monsanto

15.45 Networking break
16.00 Plenary meeting: Presentation and debate of workshop findings
The workshop leaders will present the output of their respective sessions, highlighting the key talking points and posing a number of questions to the audience for open debate.

16.20 Flash of insight: Changing how we grow: Lessons from Kenya
Jason Aramburu, Founder, re:char

16.40 Panel: Getting tough on food waste
1 of every 3 calories created in the world is wasted. What can be done to tackle this shocking level of loss?
Hijmans van den Bergh, Member of the Executive Board, Ahold
Erika Mink, Global Director Environment Affairs, Tetra Pak
